PREFACE

It is almost axiomatic that each generation is so engrossed in carving a niche for itself in a competitive world, that it gives little thought to the lives of its forbears, until one day it is faced with the indisputable realization that in the not too distant future it will become the "late" generation. As children, we were secure in the knowledge that our parents were always there to guide us in the difficult task of growing up, and to comfort us when we fell. Our parents were two people, of uncertain age, who apparently had always been adults; their earlier lives had never entered our thoughts. As we reached maturity, we were too absorbed in living our own lives to give much thought to those of our parents, who, of course, would always be there when we got around to asking them about theirs. Then one day they were gone, and we were brought face to face with the indisputable fact that we would be next. Our children were now grown and gone; we had more time to think of things other than the present day.

Who were our ancestors? From whence came they and where did they live? What did they do? These questions, unanswered, began to nag us. What did our parents tell us about our grandparents? Not much, or if they did, it made little impression on us. We do know in what place they lived when our parents were children, but where did they go after the children were grown? Where are they buried?

Now we are fired with the desire to know more. We have the time and the means to travel wherever the trail may lead. We have one invaluable base from which to start - a thirty page family history written by our paternal grandmother seventy-five years ago, which traces three branches of our family from early colonial days to the middle of the nineteenth century. But this is a descending genealogy, and we must have had many, many immigrant ancestors. So, we will try our hand at an ascending genealogy.

We begin with the cemeteries in which we know some of our recent ancestors are buried. We walk miles through them, accumulating names and dates, and taking pictures. We visit innumerable town and county offices, learning to our surprise, and disappointment, that an unbelievable number of county court-houses burned down about 1850, destroying all records! We spend hours and days in libraries, big and little. We check old newspaper files for obituaries.

About this time we realize that had we commenced our search earlier, our parents could have given us in a few minutes facts which took us two years or more to uncover. There are innumerable books to guide one in the search for ancestors, but, to anyone contemplating this task, we most emphatically say, "Do not wait until the elder generation has gone. Get as many facts from them as possible, before it is too late".

Having apparently exhausted our sources of information in the middle-west, we take up the search at the other end, in Massachusetts. Here we find that Massachusetts records are fabulous, and we spend many weeks accumulating the data we seek. Here, too, we visit many cemeteries and are rewarded beyond our expectations to find that gravestones three hundred years old are many of them still legible, whereas in the middle-west a century of weather can erase the inscriptions, due to the use of limestone instead of granite or slate.

We follow the emigration westward into Vermont, where, regrettably, the records are scanty or non-existent. Still, we contrive to complete our research in Vermont, and move farther westward into Ohio, where we were stopped in our progression to the east from the middle-west. At long last, after miles of walking through cemeteries, we come upon the monument for which we have been searching, and its inscription names the Massachusetts town from which this ancestor emigrated. This opens up a whole new field of research for us and enables us to substantially complete what has proven to be a most fascinating and gratifying project.

We have spared no effort to document as completely as possible all names, dates and places. To accomplish this, our bibliography may seem overly long and detailed. Because we have developed varying amounts of data pertaining to 150 immigrant families, we believe this could very well be a starting point for others seeking to trace their own ancestors. It is our earnest hope that it will.

In any genealogical work there may be errors, either of fact or in transcribing to the printed page. We have tried hard to avoid them, and we hope they will be few.

Finally, we wish to express our gratitude to the Newberry Library of Chicago for providing pleasant and efficient access to its enormous collection of genealogical works.

GENEALOGICAL REGISTER

Column 1 (No.) and 2 (Name)

Ancestors are listed in alphabetical order, by surname, and are numbered in sequence. The sequential numbers are not necessarily consecutive, however, as it was found expedient to provide space for subsequent additions.

The male direct ancestor in each generation is listed and assigned a genealogy number, which is out-dented in the first column.

His wife is listed next, with the same genealogy number, plus decimal 1. Her maiden name is shown, but the genealogy number which she had under her maiden name is dropped. If the name of the wife is unknown, her number will be assigned and hyphens placed in Column 2. A wife who is not a direct ancestor, i.e., not of the blood line, is given the genealogy number of the husband, plus decimal .01

Their children are listed next and are assigned the same root genealogy number, plus the decimal and a sequential number. The listing of each son will be followed by that of his wife, if any, but dropping any genealogy number which she may have had under her maiden name.

If a listed daughter marries, appropriate cross-reference is made to her husband's genealogy number, in its proper alphabetical sequence. Such married daughter will also be listed after her husband's listing.

The son or daughter who is the next direct ancestor is assigned the next whole number, which is out-dented, and is listed last in his or her generation.

An example is given on the page following.

NO.	NAME
250	Direct male ancestor
250.1	His wife and mother of the next direct ancestor
250.01	A first or second wife who is not the mother of the next direct ancestor
250.2	His son
250.3	His son's wife
250.4	His daughter. If married, cross-reference to her husband
250.5	Another son (unmarried)
250.6	Another daughter (unmarried)
251	His son, or daughter, who is the next direct ancestor

Column 3 (Relationship)

The first entry in this column will be the genealogical number of the husband or wife, if married. The second entry will be the identifying genealogical number of the male parent.

Column 4 (Line of Descent)

Direct ancestors will be identified by a capital D; collateral relatives by a capital C; and those having no blood relationship by a hyphen -.

Columns 5 (Born), 6 (Died), and 7 (Married) will show the dates, if known.

Column 8 (Authority)

The identifying symbols, and numbers of the authorities listed in the Bibliography, will be shown as follows:

NM- The 1970 reprint of Judge Nahum Mitchell's "Early History of Bridgewater, Massachusetts", with the page number given after the hyphen.

GI Gravestone inscription

X The authority identified by number in the Bibliography. In a few cases the page number is shown after a hyphen, if needed.

#5 Henry Adams, immigrant, is believed to have arrived in Boston in 1632 or 1633, with his wife, eight sons and a daughter, and settled in what was incorporated in 1640 as Braintree, Mass. The name of his wife is not known, and it is believed that she returned to England with son John and daughter Ursula, and died there. Henry Adams died in Braintree Oct. 6, 1646. His great, great grandson, President John Adams, erected a monument to his memory in the old church yard at Quincy, with the inscription,

> "In memory of Henry Adams who took his flight from the Dragon persecution in Devonshire, England, and alighted with eight sons near Mt. Wollaston. One of the sons returned to England; and after taking time to explore the country, four removed to Medfield, and two to Chelmsford. Only one, Joseph, who lies here at his left hand, remained here, - an original proprietor in the township of Braintree."

President John Quincy Adams believed that his father, President John Adams, erred in stating that the first Henry came from Devonshire, but that he came instead from Braintree, in the county of Essex, on the east coast of England. The ancient pedigree of the Adams family has been carried back sixteen generations from Henry, to the reign of Edward I.

The town of Salem granted him two acres "house lotts" and 80 acres on the Cape Ann side. The old town records state that "It is agreed that Rich'd Inkersall shall henceforth have one peny (a tyme to maintain the ferry) for every pson he doeth ferry over the north (ferry) river dureing the towns pleasure". He and Anne had three sons and four daughters. He died in Salem about December 1644. His widow Anne married second John Knight, whose son married her youngest daughter Bathsheba. Anne was his second or third wife and died July 30, 1677. Daughter Sarah (#533) married Joseph Holton (#481).

#550 Thomas Jones, immigrant, of Caversham Parish, Oxfordshire, England, sailed from Southampton April 24, 1638 in the ship Confidence, with his wife Ann - - -, and four children under ten years of age. He was described on the passenger list as "tayler" age 36, making the year of his birth 1602. The family brought with them two servants, and they settled immediately in Hingham, where he was listed as a proprietor in 1638. Two of their children were baptized in the church at Hingham in 1640 and 1643. Wife Ann died in Hingham sometime before 1657, though there is no record of her death. Thomas and his son Abraham were proprietors of Hull in 1657. Thomas Jones of Hull was married to the widow Abigail Elithorp in Boston, June 25, 1657, by acting governor Bellingham. Abigail had married first Thomas Sumner, who died in Rowley in 1643, and, second, Thomas Elithorp, who died in Rowley in 1654. Thomas and wife Abigail, with at least two of his children and two or three of the Elithorp children removed to Manchester, where they were given a grant of land by the town. Thomas was active in town affairs, being town clerk in 1658 and a selectman in 1668. Abigail was living in April 1668 but died before him, for in his will he mentions his wife Elizabeth. Possibly she was the widow of William Allen who died before January 30, 1678/9. Thomas Jones died in Manchester before March 9, 1680/1. He and his wife Ann had four sons and three daughters.

#551 Abraham[2] Jones (Thomas[1]) was born in England about 1630, married about 1656 Sarah Whitman, who died in Hull June 11, 1718. He died in Hull January 25, 1718. Abraham was described by his sons as a mariner, as were all members of the Jones family who stayed in Hull. He was Representative to the General Court in 1689 and was fairly well-to-do, the inventory of his estate totalling 827 pounds, 10 shillings. He and Sarah had six sons and one daughter, Sarah. Daughter Sarah married about 1685 Mordecai Lincoln; they were the great-great-great grandparents of President Abraham Lincoln, and were responsible for the introduction of the name Abraham into the Lincoln line.

#552 Joseph[3] Jones (Abraham[2] Thomas[1]) was born in Hull about 1667, and died in Raynham about December 1740. He married first, in Braintree, July 24, 1695, Lydia Neale who was born October 8, 1672 and died before 1720 in Raynham. He married, second, in Hull, October 20, 1720, Mary Vickery, who survived him. #554 Benjamin[5] Jones (Nathan[4] Joseph[3] Abraham[2] Thomas[1]) was born in Bristol, Mass. February 15, 1739/40, and died in Raynham between 1778 and 1787. He married, in Raynham, December 1763, Rebeckah Snow, who was born 1743 and died October 18, 1811. She married, second, by 1787, Deacon Nathaniel Shaw. She is buried in the Pleasant Street Cemetery, Raynham, where her headstone may be seen, inscribed "In memory of Mrs. Rebeckah Widow of Deacon Nathaniel Shaw, who died Oct. 18, 1811 in her 68 year." Adjacent are the graves of her daughters Sally and Rebeckah, neither of whom married. Benjamin and Rebeckah had two sons and two daughters.

#555 Asael[6] Jones (Benjamin[5] Nathan[4] Joseph[3] Abraham[2] Thomas[1]) was born 1765, married in Raynham, December 15, 1789, Catherine Leonard. She was born in Taunton September 30, 1768. After their marriage, Asael and Catherine went westward and settled in Hubbardton, Vermont. By trade he was a chair-maker. For twenty-five years he served as clerk of his church. He died November 22, 1822 and she died December 30, 1850. Both are buried in the cemetery at the Hubbardton Battlefield, where their gravestones are still standing and legible. The house which he built and his carpenter shop across the road are still standing. Asael and Catherine had four sons and four daughters.

#556 Norman[7] Jones (Asael[6]) was born September 7, 1790. Quoting from the Vermont Historical Gazetteer of 1882: "In his youth he was hired out by his father as a farm laborer, at $6 per month. A knowledge of the value of money thus early engraved on an inflexible and rock-like character was never forgotten. He afterward learned the trade of cabinet-maker, at which he occasionally labored during the rest of his life; as much noted for finish and durability of his work as for the exactness of his dealings. He was at one time a merchant, but was for the most of his life engaged in farming, and amassed a very considerable estate. He was a man of some reading, reverential in his deportment, with a certain native dignity of character; honest and severe in his honesty, with a frugality carried to parsimony. He was held in a certain degree of respect by his townsmen without being popular. For perhaps a quarter of a century before his death he dispensed the greater portion of legal justice which our usually law-abiding people required (as justice of the peace)." At his death his estate was worth in U. S. bonds and securities $40,000. On his farm he built up and maintained a large flock of Merino sheep, whose extraordinarily fine wool commanded a premium price on the market. His breeding stock was said to have been obtained from the flocks of George Washington. On November 17, 1816, he married Betsey Gibbs, who was born September 21, 1796 and died January 16, 1864. He married, second, Sarah M., widow of Seth St. John. Norman and Betsey had eight sons and two daughters. He died March 1, 1874 and is buried with Betsey in Hubbardton.

#557 Alonzo[8] Jones (Norman[7] Asael[6]) was born in Hubbardton August 13, 1819 and married, December 31, 1848, Martha Mahala Howard of Ft. Ann, N. Y. She was born November 13, 1829. In April 1849 they emigrated to Lowville, Columbia County, Wisconsin, which was, in Martha's words, "a wild new country, a good share of the inhabitants being Indians and rattlesnakes". The town of Lowville was soon divided and the part in which they lived was named Leeds. Alonzo engaged in farming, including the raising of Merino sheep, owning some 400 acres and a flock of 200 sheep. The farm products he had to haul by wagon to Appleton, Wisconsin, a journey taking about a week, during which time Martha and the children were alone on the farm. Frequently Indians would walk into the farm kitchen expecting to be fed. During the Civil War the government bought up all of the fine wool to make overcoats for the Union soldiers. In 1887 they sold their farm and removed to Poynette, Wis., to spend their declining days. Martha was a very remarkable woman, well educated and articulate. She and Alonzo made two trips back East to visit relatives, once in 1860 and again in 1888. She maintained correspondence with their relatives and in about 1897 she wrote a 30-page family history, seven hand-written copies, one for each of their children. This history, composed in rural

Wisconsin, has proven to be completely accurate with the one exception. She thought that the immigrant Jones was Benjamin who came from Wales about 1700 and was the father of Benjamin[5]. Her information could only have been handed down from Asael to Norman to Alonzo, and since Asael was only about ten years old when his father, Benjamin[5], died, it is not likely that he knew much about his grandfather, who was Nathan[4]. Alonzo died June 22, 1910 and Martha November 30, 1908. Both are buried in Hillside Cemetery, Poynette, Wisconsin. They had three sons and four daughters.

#558 John Howard[9] Jones (Alonzo[8] Norman[7] Asael[6]) was born February 19, 1866 in Leeds, Wisconsin. He left the home farm in March 1884 and worked on a farm in Ridgeway, Iowa until autumn, at which time he went to school in Decorah Institute, Decorah, Iowa. In the spring of 1885 he and a fellow student went to work on a farm in Fargo, North Dakota. In a few months they left this farm and started back for Iowa. Lacking money, they walked as far as Austin, Minnesota, where John Howard got a job on a farm until November, at which time he returned to school in Decorah until January 1886. He then taught school in Allamakee County, Iowa, until about May 1886. He then took a job as salesman for the Charles City, Iowa, Nursery, and sold nursery stock in Iowa and Minnesota until September 1887, at which time he entered Cornell College in Mt. Vernon, Iowa. He graduated in Engineering five years later in 1892. During summer vacations he sold memberships in the National Library Association of Chicago. From June 1892 to September 1893 he sold Encyclopaedia Britannica. He then entered the Denver University Law School, and on October 25, 1893 he married Hattie Kepler of Mt. Vernon, Iowa. In April 1894 he passed the Law Exams and was admitted to the Bar to practice law. To get money to enter law practice he sold school supplies and engaged in other selling jobs. He then went to Chicago and became a grain broker and member of the Chicago Open Board of Trade. From about 1898 until 1911 he and his wife lived on Chicago's South Side, near the Midway and the University of Chicago. Their three sons were born there. In 1911 he purchased an eight-room home in Kenilworth, Illinois, on the North Shore, where they lived until all their sons were married. In 1925 they sold their Kenilworth home and moved to an apartment in Evanston, and later to DesPlaines, Illinois. During their residence in Kenilworth, he sold industrial real estate in Windsor, Ontario, for the Realty Development Company. In the last years of their lives, he and his wife lived with their son Howard Jr. in DesPlaines, Illinois. John Howard died November 17, 1957, and Hattie died April 8, 1960. Both are buried in Memorial Park Cemetery, Evanston, Illinois.

#559 Merton Edward[10] Jones (John Howard[9] Alonzo[8] Norman[7] Asael[6]) was born January 10, 1905 on Chicago's South Side. The family moved to Kenilworth in 1911, where he attended Grammar School. He graduated from New Trier High School in Winnetka in 1924 and in September of that year began work in the Purchasing Department of the Victor Chemical Works in Chicago. In May 1925 he obtained a leave of absence from the Company and went with his father to Biloxi, Mississippi. He took a job as office manager for a real estate development company and remained in Biloxi for about a year. He then returned to Chicago and resumed his position with Victor Chemical Works. On June 2, 1927 he married, in Waukegan, Illinois, Helen Bernice Cook, nee Branson. She was adopted when six years old, and Cook was the name of her adoptive parents. She died September 29, 1962 in Aurora, Illinois, and is buried in Oakland Cemetery, Woodstock, Illinois. He married second Naomi Doris (Corgan) Martin on November 16, 1963, in Woodstock, where they now reside. After 42 years of service in the Purchasing Department of Victor Chemical Works, and its successor Stauffer Chemical Co., he retired on February 26, 1965. He and his wife Bernice had a son and a daughter.

#560 Merton Edward Jr.[11] Jones (Merton Edward[10] John Howard[9] Alonzo[8] Norman[7] Asael[6]) was born November 3, 1938 in Evanston, Illinois, and married December 30, 1961, in Crystal Lake, Illinois, Joan LeBrun, who was born March 17, 1939. They had one daughter.

#561 Pamela Susan[12] Jones, twelfth generation from Thomas[1] Jones, the immigrant to New England, was born January 5, 1965. Her parents are divorced and Pamela lives with her mother in Crystal Lake, Ill.

#572 Ralph Keeler, immigrant, was born about 1613, and was settled in Hartford, Conn. by 1640; west with the first settlers to Norwalk, Conn. The name of his first wife is not known. She was dead before 1663. He died in August or September of 1672. He and his first wife had four sons and three daughters. Daughter - - - (#573) married Thomas Morehouse Jr. (708).

#575 Reverend James Keith, immigrant, was born in Scotland in 1643 and was educated at Aberdeen, Scotland, as a divinity student. The original proprietors of Bridgewater, Mass., desiring a resident minister, sought help from the Rev. Increase Mather of the Bay Colony. In 1662 young James Keith, about 18 years old and not yet ordained, emigrated to New England, arriving in Boston. The Bridgewater settlers built the ministers house and had it ready and waiting for him when he was ordained in 1664. He was also included in the grant of Bridgewater as one of the original proprietors. On May 3, 1668 he married Susanna Edson, the daughter of his Deacon, Samuel Edson. He was highly regarded by his congregation, whom he served for 56 years, until his death in 1719. During King Philip's War of 1675-1678, the settlement was several times attacked by the Indians and the parsonage was used as a garrison house by a vote of the town taken on November 20, 1675. At the close of the war King Philip's wife and her son were given refuge in the parsonage. His house remained in the Keith family for many years after his death and is believed to be one of the oldest parsonages in America. The house has been restored to its original form and refurnished as it was when occupied by Rev. Keith. This was made possible because the inventory of his property, taken August 25, 1719, showed the internal division and arrangement of the house at that time. The Old Bridgewater Historical Society has sponsored this restoration. The house is located on the north side of River Street, near the crossing of Forest Street. Susanna Edson was born in 1640 and died in West Bridgewater October 16, 1705.

He died July 23, 1719. Both are in the South Street Cemetery in West Bridgewater, in a granite crypt. They had six sons and three daughters. Daughter Mary (#576) married Ephraim Howard (#495).

#580 Benjamin Kepler is presumed to be the immigrant, to have come from the German Palatinate, and to have arrived in Philadelphia about 1760. He moved inland to Montgomery County, then Philadelphia County, and married Elizabeth Royer, probably about 1770. Soon they removed across Maryland to Virginia, as many of the German immigrants did at that time. They had three children, Hannah born about 1772, John born January 1, 1773, and Elizabeth born about 1774. The mother Elizabeth died before October 1780. Apparently Benjamin returned to Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, with the three children. Possibly he died soon, for in June 1786 the uncle of the children, Michael Royer, petitioned the Orphan's Court of Montgomery County to appoint a guardian for the two minor children, John and Elizabeth, both under the age of fourteen years. Hannah must have been over fourteen years of age and not considered a minor.

#581 John^{2} Kepler (Benjamin^{1}) was in Maryland in 1790, for the Federal Census of that year lists a John Kepler, over 16 years of age, without dependants, in Washington County. County lines were indefinite at that time and John might very well have been in adjoining Frederick County, for on February 22, 1802, in that county, he married Mary Magdalen Young, daughter of Conrad Young, a well-to-do farmer of Middletown, Maryland. One conjectures that John may have worked on Conrad Young's farm, and then married his employer's daughter. Apparently the marriage did not meet with her father's approval, for in his will Conrad Young put Mary Magdalen's inheritance in trust, unless and until she should survive John Kepler. Mary Magdalen was born November 22, 1770 and died June 28, 1840. John died July 18, 1849. Both are buried in the Zion Lutheran Cemetery in Middletown, where their gravestones may still be read.

John must have arranged for his sister Elizabeth to come to Maryland, for on October 31, 1807, she married Eli James in Frederick. John and Mary had four sons and two daughters.

#582 Conrad[3] Kepler (John[2] Benjamin[1]) was born in Middletown, Maryland, January 5, 1811, and on December 16, 1832 he married Margaret Lingenfelter, who was bornDecember 22, 1810. On May 4, 1843, Conrad and Margaret, with their then four children, set out for Iowa in a covered wagon. According to an account written many years later by his son Charles, Conrad rode the nigh horse and drove the lead horse with one line. They were about 60 days making the trip and arrived July 4, 1843 at the two-room log house of Conrad's brother Henry, in Sugar Grove, a mile and one-half west of the present town of Mt. Vernon, Iowa. Henry had come to Iowa earlier and had constructed the two-room log house. The two families lived there until the next spring, when Conrad and his family moved onto their own newly acquired property adjacent to that of Henry. In 1859 Conrad purchased a farm nearer to the town of Mt. Vernon, and moved his family there. Three generations of Kepler children were raised that home, which is still in use today, over a hundred years later! Margaret died December 29, 1879 and Conrad died June 6, 1904. Both are buried in the Abbey Creek Cemetery, in what was formerly known as Sugar Grove, across the road from the little red brick schoolhouse where the Kepler children were taught. Conrad and Margaret had six sons and two daughters.

About 1670 there was a ship-launching party in England, attended by ten young couples, among them David and his fiancee. A sudden storm drove the new ship out to sea, where they drifted helplessly for some days. They were found by a pirate ship and taken on board as captives. The ten young men were offered the choice of joining the pirates or walking the plank; David and one other young man elected to join the pirates. The girls were taken to the island base from which the pirates operated. After a year or so at sea with the pirates, David and the other young man became very ill with scurvy, but pretended to be much worse than they really were. TURNER (Chart page 21)

#1054 Nathaniel Turner, immigrant, came from England to America in 1630 with the first Winthrop Fleet. He settled first at Saugus, Mass. By 1632 he removed to Lynn and served as constable that year. In 1635-36 he was representative to the First General Court, Boston. In 1637 he served with Captain Endicott in the campaign against the Pequots. In June 1637 Theophilus Eaton and John Davenport arrived in Boston with a group of immigrants dedicated to establishing a "Colony for Christ" in the New World. Nathaniel joined them in the latter part of 1637 and in the Spring of 1638 the whole colony sailed down the coast where they founded a colony at New Haven, Connecticut, at that time known by the Indian name of Quinnipiac. He was invested with military command there under the provisional authority prior to permanent settlement of the colony. He was then made Captain with command of all military affairs of the New Haven Colony. On June 4, 1638, the free planters of the Colony met to nominate twelve members who were to set about founding a church. Nathaniel was No. 8 in the list of admissions to the First Church of Christ in New Haven. Also in 1638 he was one of four who were appointed to dispose of all the lots in the town to such persons of the Colony whom they judged good for the town. Farm land was distributed by this Committee according to the worth of the head of the family, the number of his children, and the number of his servants. Captain Turner's lot in town was on the corner of Church and Wall Street, where Trinity Church parish house now stands. He was a signer of the "Plantation Agreement" for the protection and jurisdiction of the Colony, which was signed July 4, 1639. In October 1639 he was chosen as one of four deputies to serve with and assist the magistrate, Theophilus Eaton, in governing the affairs of the colony. In 1640 he was commissioned by the Colony to explore the mainland toward what is now New York, and purchase from the Indians lands which included what is now Stamford, Conn. and extending down into New York State. Later that year, 1640, he continued on down the coast to Delaware. The Stamford land was quickly settled; by the end of 1642 the landholders there included fifty-nine family names. Also in 1640, acting as agent of the New Haven Colony, he negotiated a large purchase of land on both sides of Delaware Bay or River. This acquisition resulted in much friction with the Dutch and Swedes in that area. Captain Turner continued as deputy of the New Haven Colony and Captain of the Militia, along with his own business as a merchant, during the period from 1639 to 1646.

The merchants of New Haven, having been unsuccessful in trading, and having sustained great losses in Delaware, decided to have an ocean-going vessel built to transport their trading goods directly to England. By the end of 1645 the vessel, of about 150 tons, was completed, but according to early records the "shippe was ill built and walt sided". She was loaded with hides, beaver and peltry, peas, wheat and other grain, as well as a quantity of plate. The value of the cargo was estimated at over £5000. Among the seventy persons who chose to go along on the ship's maiden voyage to England were Nathaniel Turner (to help in the sale of the products, as he was a prominent merchant), Thomas Gregson, George Lamberton (master of the ship) and other prominent citizens of New Haven. Finally, after many setbacks due to the extremely cold winter of that year, and after cutting with saws a passage three miles in length through the thick ice of the harbor, "the great shippe" set sail on a foggy morning of January 1646. A great company of the people went out on the ice of the harbor to bid them farewell. The ship was never again heard of and all on board were presumed lost at sea. After a lapse of many months their estates were settled and their names put on the record as deceased.

In June 1647 a mirage of the ship was said to have appeared over the harbor at New Haven. This tale, one of the most weird of New England legends, has become quite well known from the accounts by several early historians and also from Longfellow's poem "The Phantom Ship". Cotton Mather, hearing of the circumstances, wrote to his friend Rev. Mr. Pierpont, for information and received from him the following answer: "In compliance with your desires, I now give you the relation of that apparition of a ship in the air, which I have received from the most credible, judicious, and curious observers of it. . . . . The spring following, no tidings of these friends arrived with the ships from England: New Haven's heart began to fail her: this put the godly people on much prayer, both publick and private, that the Lord would (if it was his pleasure) let them hear what he had donn with their dear friends, and prepare them with a suitable submission to his Holy Will. In June next ensuing, a great thunder-storm arose out of the northwest; after which (the hemisphere being serene) about an hour before sunset a Ship with like dimensions with the aforesaid, with her canvass and colors abroad (though the wind northernly) appeared in the air coming up from our harbour's mouth, which lyes southward from the town, seemingly with her sails filled under a fresh gale, holding her course north, and continuing under observation, sailing against the wind for the space of half an hour. Many were drawn to behold this great work of God; yea, the very children cried out, "There's a brave ship!"At length, crouding up as far as there is usually water sufficient for such a vessel, and so near some of the spectators, as they imagined a man might hurl a stone on board her, her main-top seemed to be blown off, but left hanging in the shrouds; then her missen-top; then all her masting seemed blown away by the board; quickly after the hulk brought unto a careen, she overset, and so vanished into a smoaky cloud, which in some time dissipated, leaving, as every where else, a clear air. The admiring spectators could distinguish the several colors of each part, the principal rigging, and such proportions, as caused not only the generality of persons to say, "This was the mould of their ship, and thus was her tragick end: but Mr. Davenport also in publick declared to this effect: "That God had condescended, for the quieting of their afflicted spirits, this extraordinary account of his sovereign disposal of those for whom so many fervent prayers were made continually". Captain Nathaniel Turner, then, died at sea in January 1646. He married, before 1630, Margaret (Leachland?). She married, second, about 1648, Samuel Vangoodenhausen. Here Captain William built a home where they lived until 1817, when they sold their home in Great Barrington and removed to what is today Grafton, Ohio. The following anecdote is narrated in the History of Lorain County, Ohio:

> "Early in June of 1817, while a number of children were picking wild flowers, a stranger was seen approaching, leading his horse and evidently searching for something. It proved to be the hub, or corner, he was looking for. "Children, can you tell me the number of this lot?" "No, sir", one spoke up, "but we know who is coming here; Captain Turner from Great Barrington. He's got ten children; then we're going to have a school-house." The stranger smiled, indicating his acquaintance with the family."

Captain William had left his family in Columbus (a township adjacent to Grafton) until a small clearing was made, and on the 4th of July, 1817, log house number nine was raised. He was the first blacksmith in the township and lived and worked there for many years, although totally blind for a number of years before his death on September 12, 1868. He lived to see the wild forest give place to the cultivated field. He was 92 years of age when he died. His wife Mary died April 10, 1870, aged 92 years. They had seven sons and seven daughters. He died November 3, 1891, aged 87 years. His wife, Olive, died April 28, 1886, aged 79 years. Her obituary mentions her "afflictinn of nearly 40 years" (blindness?). #1161 Abel[6] Whitney (Timothy[5] Jonas[4] Moses[3] Richard[2] John[1]) was born in Harvard, Massachusetts, September 19, 1752, and married, November 1, 1775, in Petersham, Elizabeth Spenny, who was born in 1753 and died February 15, 1795 in Guilford, Vermont. He married second, about January 1798 Anna - - -, who died September 2, 1843. Abel and Elizabeth had seven sons and three daughters. He died August 7, 1807 and is buried beside Elizabeth in the Guilford Center Cemetery, where their gravestones still stand. Daughter Betsey (#1162) married Frederick Lyndes (#673).

#1171 Simon[4] Willard (Richard[3] Symon[2] Richard[1]), immigrant, was baptized April 7, 1605 in Horsmonden Parish, Kent County, England, and came to New England in 1634 with his wife and possibly one child. He married first, in England, Mary Sharpe, who was baptized October 16, 1614 and died before 1651. He married, second, in 1651, Elizabeth Dunster, who was baptized April 26, 1619 and died within a year after her marriage. He married, third, Mary Dunster, who was baptized December 15, 1630 and died December 28, 1715, aged 85 years. By his first and third wives he had nine sons and eight daughters. He settled first at Cambridge but a year later removed to Concord. In 1636 he was chosen representative to the General Court, was appointed to train the military company, was a magistrate, an Assistant Judge of the General Court in 1654, and deputed to hold court in Hampton and Salisbury in 1666 and in Dover and York in 1675. He was chose Sergeant Major of Middlesex County in 1653, and was commander-in-chief of the Narragansett expedition in 1654 and 1655. He was active in King Philip's War. In 1659 he sold his Concord properties and removed to Lancaster; twelve years later he again removed to Groton. During King Philip'sWar the Indians attacked the town of Groton and burned Major Willard's home in March 1675/6. A month later, in Charlestown, he was stricken with an "epidemic cold" and died April 24, 1676, aged 71 years. He was probably buried in Charlestown.

#1172 Henry[5] Willard (Simon[4] Richard[3] Symon[2] Richard[1]) was born at Concord June 4, 1655, and married, July 18, 1674, Mary Lakin of Groton, who died about 1688. He married, second, about 1689, Dorcas Cutler, who survived him. He died in 1701, in Lancaster. By his two wives he had eight sons and five daughters.

#1173 Simon[6] Willard (Henry[5] Simon[4] Richard[3] Symon[2] Richard[1]) was born at Groton October 8, 1678 and married Mary Whitcomb, who was born in 1682. They lived in Lancaster. He died in 1706 and she married, second, Samuel Farnsworth. Simon and Mary had two sons and three daughters. Daughter Alice (#1174) married Jonathan Whitney (#1158).

#1184 John Willis, immigrant, was at Duxbury as early as 1637. He was an original proprietor and one of the first settlers of Bridgewater. He was the first deacon at Bridgewater and held many town offices; represented Bridgewater at the old Colony Court for 25 years; was appointed to solemnize marriages and administer oaths to witnesses and others. He sold his Duxbury estate in 1657 to William Paybody. His wife, Elizabeth (Hodgkins) Palmer, was the widow of William Palmer Jr. John Willis died in 1693. He and Elizabeth had five sons and three daughters. Daughter Sarah (#1185) married John Ames (#41).

#1196 Josiah[7] Winslow, immigrant, of Droitwich Parish, Worcestershire, England, was born February 11, 1605 and came to New England with his brother Kenelm about 1629. He was in Scituate in 1637 and soon after 1643 removed to Marshfield. He married Margaret Bourne of Marshfield in 1636. He died December 1, 1674 and she died in October 1683. They had one son and five daughters. Daughter Elizabeth (#1197) married Gilbert Brooks (#153).

#1199 Edward Wood, immigrant, was in Charlestown by 1640, being admitted to the church on January 30, 1640. He married, about 1640, Ruth Mousal, who was admitted to the church March 24, 1640, and died June 29, 1642. He died September 27, 1642. They had two daughters. Daughter Ruth (#1200) married William Sheafe (#932).

#1205 John Wyatt, immigrant, and his wife Mary - - -, lived in Ipswich, Massachusetts. He was from Assington Parish, Suffolk County, England, but nothing more is known about them, except that their daughter Mary (#1206) married Henry Kimball (#588).

#1215 Conrad Young, immigrant, from the German Palatinate, arrived in Philadelphia October 20, 1744 in the ship Phoenix from Rotterdam. In the list of arrivals his name is in the German spelling Conrath Jung. He was among the first pioneers to Middletown, Maryland, having come there about 1748 to 1750. There was at this time a substantial migration of German immigrants from Pennsylvania through Maryland, along the Monocacy road, to Virginia. Middletown lies in a beautiful, fertile valley, and probably Conrad Young, when he came upon it, decided this was the promised land. The first Lutheran Church of Middletown was two miles west of town, where there is still a graveyard. The original building was taken down in 1790. Land for the replacement church was deeded in trust to Conrad Young for the Lutherans. The first Lutheran Church in Middletown was erect on a lot presented by Conrad Crone. The church had a steeple and bell-tower. The bell was purchased by Conrad Young from a man-of-war ship and presented to the church. Conrad young was born in Germany about 1728 and died in Middletown April 5, 1825. He married Mary Magdalene - - -, who was born October 1, 1731, probably in Germany, and died October 9, 1824. They were buried in the Lutheran Cemetery in Middletown. It seems that the headstones from some of the older graves were moved to the opposite end of the cemetery, and placed in four rows, to accomodate some expansion of the church. The headstones of Conrad, Mary Magdalene, and their daughter Barbara are placed side by side and are in excellent condition. Conrad and Mary Magdalene had four sons and five daughters. Daughter Mary Magdalen (#1216) married John Kepler (#581).

#A115 Richard Brackett, immigrant, was born in England in 1612 and came to New England probably with the Winthrop fleet in 1629. Since he was only seventeen at the time, it is believed that he was accompanied by his older brother Peter, as guardian. He settled first at Boston, and on August 17, 1630 was among the colonists with whome Governor Winthrop organized the First Church of Boston. His wife, Alice - - -, was admitted to the church September 8, 1635, probably shortly after their marriage. Her maiden name has not been learned. He was admitted Freeman in Boston May 25, 1636 and on November 23, 1636 became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. He was granted a lot and built a house in which he resided until about November 20, 1637, when he was appointed by the General Court to be keeper of the prison. In 1640 he was associated with the incorporation of Braintree and removed there in 1641 or 1642. He was ordained of the new church in Braintree July 21, 1642, an office which he held until his death. He was the town's first clerk, was a selectman, and chosen deputy to the General Court. In 1654 he was appointed Captain of the train -band in Braintree by the Genral Court. In addition to his other offices, he taught school in Braintree. He was a farmer and acquired a considerable estate. When the town of Billerica was incorporated he became a freeholder there and several of his children settled there. His wife Alice died in 1689 and is thought to be buried near his grave, though no stone marks the spot. He died March 5, 1690 and is buried in the north precinct of Braintree, now Quincy. The inscription on his grave stone reads:

Here lyeth buried ye body of
Captain Richard Brackett
Deacon
Aged 80 years
Deceased March 5, 1690

His age stated at 80 years is at variance with other more authentic records. He and Alice had four sons and four daughters. Daughter Rachel (#A116) married Simon Crosby (#237).

A120.1 Prudence Wilkinson, immigrant, was in Charlestown in 1630, having come to New England, in all probability, with her son John and daughter Elizabeth. There being no record of her husband in New England, it is assumed that he died in England and his widow came to New England with their children. Her maiden name is not known; she died in Malden in 1655. Daughter Elizabeth (#A121) married George Felt (#331).

A125 John Thomson, immigrant, was born in the northern part of Wales in 1616; possibly the father was of Dutch origin. His father died soon after his birth and his mother married again; the name of her second husband is not known. The family came to New England in one of Thomas Weston's ships, arriving at Plymouth in May 1622, at which time John was six years old. He was a farmer but possessed sufficient skill as a carpenter to build a house for himself and for others also. On March 3, 1645, he purchased a house and garden in Plymouth, and on December 26, 1645, he married Mary Cooke, daughter of Francis Cooke who came in the Mayflower in 1620. She was born between 1624 and 1627, and died March 21, 1714, aged 88 years. A few years after his marriage, he purchased approximately six thousand acres of land from Wetis-pa-quin, sachem of the Neponsets, about thirteen miles west of Plymouth, a part of which is now Middleboro. Here he built a log house, but they were surrounded by Indians and had always to be on their guard. Other families settled in the area and a garrison was built to which they could come when the Indians threatened. John Thomson was commissioned Lieutenant in charge of the garrison. He was a man of great strength, six foot three inches in height, and a formidable Indian fighter. His wife, Mary, was not easily intimidated either, for on one occasion when some Indians forced their way into her kitchen, she beat them off with a splinter broom. At the onset of King Philip's War, they were forced back to Plymouth and their log house was burned by the Indians. At the close of the war, the settlers returned to their estates. At that time, 1677, John Thomson built a new house near the location of the one burned by the Indians. The new home was constructed like a fortress, and here they lived for the remainder of their lives. He died June 16, 1696, aged 80 years. He and Mary are buried in the first burying ground in Middleboro, "on the Hill". They had six sons and six daughters.

A126 Jacob[2] Thomson (John[1]) was born April 24, 1662 and died September 1, 1726, aged 65 years. For a number of years he held a commission as justice of the peace. On December 28, 1693, he married Abigsil Wadsworth, who was born October 25, 1670 and died September 15, 1744, aged 75 years. Both are buried in Middleboro, "at the Green". They had four sons and six daughters. Daughter Abigail (#A127) married Jonathan Packard (#767).

NOTE: There is no definite proof as to whether the third wife of Simon Willard was (1) Mary, the daughter of Robert Dunster and Mary Gerrett, or (2) Mary, the daughter of Henry Dunster and Isabel Kaye. However, the Willard Genealogy (pg. 5) is convinced that she was (1) Mary.
